CONGRATULATES the Winners of the 2015-16 MBA STUDENT AWARDS!

GENERAL MILLS AWARD WINNERS

Anne-Sophie Leroux (General Mills MBA Award)

Anne-Sophie Leroux is originally from France and completed a Bachelor of Commerce at McGill University in Montreal. She then joined the marketing team of Boiron, a French consumer healthcare company. While she enjoyed working on a variety of projects including product launches and in-store promotions, she decided to pursue her MBA at Ross to further develop both her leadership and analytical skills. Last summer, Anne-Sophie was part of Citi's Consumer Banking Summer Associate program in New-York, where she will be going back full time after graduation. At Ross, she served as the VP of Education for the Marketing Club and President of the European Business Students Association.

JOSEPH AND NANCY KEITHLEY AWARD WINNERS

Drew Baker (Joseph and Nancy Keithley MBA Award)

Born in Chicago and raised in Florida, Drew went on to the Georgia Institute of Technology to earn a degree in Chemical and Biomolecular Engineering with a minor in Business Management. Upon graduation, Drew worked for an industrial controls manufacturer in Chicago as a sales engineer and then as a regional sales manager for the Midwest. He then chose to attend Ross in order to gain the skills needed to transition towards a long term career in strategic marketing and product management in the manufacturing industry. While at Ross, Drew served as the President of the B2B Club as well as the Ice Hockey Club. This past summer, he interned with Emerson as a strategic planner for their Process Management platform in Minneapolis and will return there full-time upon graduation in the same role.

LEO BURNETT AWARD WINNERS

Thomas Mazula (Leo Burnett MBA Award)

Thomas Mazula grew up near Minneapolis, MN and went to Iowa State University for his undergraduate degree where he received a B.S in Accounting and a B.A in Psychology. Prior to Ross, he spent 5 years in 5 different positions in Corporate Finance at General Mills. Wanting to still take advantage of his analytical skillset while becoming more consumer facing, he decided to pursue a career in brand management at Ross. This past summer he worked at Land O'Lakes in their International Division focused on creating the dairy productivity strategy for competing in Mexico. Thomas looks forward to returning to Land O'Lakes in Minneapolis full-time upon graduation where he will work as an Associate Marketing Manager.

Bryan Morel (Leo Burnett MBA Award)

Bryan grew up in the Washington, D.C. area and attended James Madison University for his undergraduate studies, majoring in Accounting and Computer Information Systems. Bryan began his career as a technology consultant for Deloitte working on projects across the healthcare spectrum. He came to Ross to build his marketing acumen to transition from healthcare to retail and CPG industries. While at Ross, Bryan was a VP of Events for the Retail & Luxury Goods Club and spent his MAP in digital advertising. He worked last summer at Kimberly-Clark as an Associate Brand Manager Intern on the Huggies brand. Upon graduation, Bryan will shift to Deloitte's strategy consulting practice in Chicago as a Senior Consultant focused on consumer products clients.

Emery Volz (Leo Burnett MBA Award)

Emery grew up in Austin, Texas, and earned his undergraduate degree in International Business from Georgetown University. Prior to coming to Ross, he worked as a federal-practice consultant for Booz Allen Hamilton in Washington, DC, and spent several years teaching English at elementary schools in Japan. He is passionate about storytelling, and came to Ross to explore this passion and pursue a career in brand management. Emery interned with Land O'Lakes in Innovation and New Business Development last summer, and will be returning to Minneapolis to work for Land O'Lakes full-time as an Associate Marketing Manager after graduation.
