

EXECUTIVE EDUCATION

LEADING THE SUSTAINABILITY TRANSFORMATION

Lead your organization's sustainability strategy with innovation and purpose.

Drive Sustainable Transformation in Your Organization with Innovation and Purpose

Lead your organization's sustainable transformation to create a meaningful positive impact and secure a sustainable competitive advantage that will enhance stakeholder value, drive innovation, and ensure long-term resilience. This program integrates leading research with industry best practices, providing you with a solid foundation of evidence-based knowledge and tools to inform your decision-making and drive sustainable business strategies and practices.

You will develop the skills needed to effectively manage the risks to today's business and realize the transformational opportunities of tomorrow through interactive lectures, case studies, group discussions, and experiential learning activities.

Sustainable Leadership in the ESG Era was developed in coordination with the Erb Institute, which has been at the forefront of business sustainability for over 25 years. The program features executive guest speakers with substantial experience in formulating and executing sustainability strategies.
