The Marketing Area at the Ross School of Business invites U.S. Citizen and Permanent Resident Day and Evening MBA students demonstrating a strong interest in Advertising, Marketing, or Marketing Communications to apply for the Leo Burnett Award. Please note that to be eligible students must be enrolled full time in the Winter 2020 term and have no other tuition-based aid.

Three awards (approximately $4000 each) towards Winter term tuition will be available.

Mr. Leo Burnett founded the Leo Burnett Company in 1935 during America’s Great Depression. Originally fitting into a suite of rooms at Chicago’s Palmer House Hotel, the company grew and built a sound national reputation. Today, Leo Burnett Worldwide is a part of the French group Publicis. It has 97 offices in 84 countries and more than 8,500 employees. The company still adheres to Mr. Burnett’s philosophy on growth: “Take care of the ads, and the profits will take care of themselves.”

In 1999, the Leo Group’s estimated combined U.S. and International billings topped $7.6 billion, and the company counted Kellogg, Pillsbury and Maytag among its blue-chip clients. Mr. Burnett’s philosophy on growth: “Take care of the ads, and the profits will take care of themselves.”
